THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL,

The name of the committee must be written in all caps before preambulatory clauses

Acknowledging the dependence on agriculture as a primary source of income in some Less Economically Developed Countries (LEDCs) and their inherent lack of an ability to utilize AI in these markets,

Preambulatory clauses end with a comma

Emphasizing that ethical dimensions and privacy safeguards must be integral components of artificial intelligence (AI) development strategies, underscoring the imperative to strike a delicate balance between innovation and the protection of fundamental human rights,

3-5 preambulatory clauses

Advocating for comprehensive education and training programs including initiatives to equip the workforce with the necessary skills for new emerging roles in the AI-driven economy,

Supporting the establishment of international standards that prioritize transparency in AI systems along with accountability and fairness ensures that they do not compromise the well-being or rights of workers,

If the clause starter is repated, words such as "further" must be added
This is also applied to operative clauses

Further Emphasizing the need for the creation of a collaborative platform for informatio and best practices related to the integration of AI in the labor market, Operative clauses are numbered, and the clause starter must be underlined. There is a word bank at the end of this document.

*Remember, some clause starters may only be used by the Security Council.

1. Urges companies to ensure data privacy and protection of labor workers by implementing robust data privacy policies to protect workers' personal information preventing data breaches causing misuse or unauthorized access;

Operative clauses end with a semicolon

The maximum number of operative clauses allowed in a resolution is 20 . To count clauses: the first sub -clause and first sub -sub clause count as part of their parent main clause or sub -clause respectively. The second sub and/or sub -sub clauses counts towards the total of 20

This would count as 5 clauses

All acronyms must be written in full the first time they are used in the resolution.

2. Calls upon Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) and intergovernmental organizations to prevent and reduce AI bias thus ensuring the transparency of AI decisions in workplaces through ways such as but not limited to:

Before starting a list of sub/sub -sub clauses, use a colon.

a. conducting regular testing and auditing of AI systems algorithms that allows more objective acceptance of employees' resumes through establishing clear protocols from organizations for identified bias including processes for modifications and future improvement

b. cultivating diversity in AI development teams and datasets based on which decision-making algorithms are trained through ways such as but not limited to:

i. defining and setting clear guidelines for the developers of AI to create decision-making algorithms based on diversity criteria such as gender, ethnicity, occupation, and age asking for instances or studies where AI

ii. vendors have contributed to the cultivation of diversity that will be used as the foundation for more diverse and objective datasets

c. enhancing transparency and accountability as well as addressing the ethics of AI through ways such as but not limited to:

Sub -clauses (and sub -sub clauses) do not have punctuation, except for the last one of the clause.

i. identifying clear factors and data that hinder key decisions of AI such as sharing data sources, algorithms, and key variables used

ii. ensuring a clear and easily interpreted record of AI's decision-making process is accessible to the public including biased and positive examples to promote the understanding of the functionality of such algorithms;

3. Asks for Member States to facilitate training programs in workplaces as well as secondary schools intended to re and upskill each nation's workforce with skills required to succeed in an AI-centric world to avoid future skill gaps by teaching how to match skills with AI;

4. Encourages the establishment of a task force or working group within the United Nations, composed of representatives from member states, international organizations, and relevant stakeholders, to facilitate ongoing discussions and collaboration on AI and labor protection:

You can't have only one sub-clause in a main clause (or only one sub-sub clause within a sub-clause). These are lists (and you can't have a list with only one item.)

a. stresses the importance of integrating AI policies into national sustainable development strategies, ensuring that the benefits of AI contribute to the achievement of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)

b. provide insight on markets that present opportunities for development with AI to allow the incorporation of AI once approved by the organization

c. urges governments to collaborate with relevant stakeholders, including trade unions, employers, and civil society, in the development and implementation of policies related to AI and labor protection

d. setting up periodic reporting by mitigating or improving bias in the AI workforce through conduct reviews of AI algorithms by organizations to identify and discover AI.

The final operative clause ends with a full stop/period. This should be the only full stop/period in the entire resolution.

The resolution must be a maximum of three pages long
